

Agribusiness

Who We Are

GlobalData Agribusiness is the world's leading economic consulting practice devoted to the agribusiness sector.

LMC International was acquired by GlobalData in 2021. LMC's 40 years of expertise in providing agricultural commodity insights, enriched by GlobalData's unique data sets and analysis assets, forms GlobalData's Agribusiness offer.

We specialize in major agricultural commodities and their derivatives, leveraging a global network of offices, associates, and partners.

This enables us to deliver unmatched commodity-specific data, economic analysis, and insights, along with broader macro perspectives on the global soft commodities sector.

What We Do

We provide market data, economic analysis, and insights to help our clients in the global agricultural, and consumer packaged goods industries make better decisions.

Our focus areas include prices, supply, demand, trade, policy, and performance benchmarking, with forward-looking forecasts trusted by major market players in each commodity area we cover.

Our offerings include industry-leading reports, datasets, and customized consulting services to help our clients solve their most complex and important challenges, through tailor-made research and strategic analysis based on their bespoke needs.
